A Special Breed

The students at Western Carolina are a rare mixture from all over the United States. All of them come here to give their future a brighter outlook. All of them come to strive toward a larger goal. During this period of their life called college, the Western students receive more than just an education. As they join clubs, teams, and organizations, they make friends and slowly grow into adults.

Often their existence is rarely seen on campus. Those involved in getting things done do not stand in the limelight, but rather prowl around the outside of the circle of light making sure that things go aright. In evidence of that fact are those behind the construction of the Ramsy Regional Activity Center. Many were involved with the building and managing of the structure, but few of the students are aware of their names. They chose rather to take their pleasure in the enjoyment of the thousands of people who will use it for years to come.

Western Carolina University is a school "on the prowl" to a brighter future through the continued efforts of her students and administration.

A Laidback Atmosphere

Western Carolina University is located in the scenic Appalachian mountain ranges at Cullowhee, North Carolina. The university consists of the main campus in Cullowhee and resident credit centers in Asheville and Cherokee. A faculty of about 325 serves a student body of almost 6,500 in resident—credit and extension classes.

The Cullowhee campus is in a valley between the Blue Ridge and Great Smoky Mountains, fifty-two miles west of Asheville and seven miles south of Sylva on North Carolina Highway 107. The location at the southern end of Cullowhee valley in the heart of the Tuckaseigee River basin gives it an unusually attractive setting.

The central campus consists of about 400 acres, including beautifully wooded areas and modern academic student residence, recreation, and athletic facilities. The Blue Ridge Parkway, Great Smoky Mountains National Park, Cherokee Indian Reservation, Fontana Lake, and numerous resort areas offering golf, skiing, fishing, hunting, hiking, water sports, and other recreational opportunities are located nearby.

Another place to get away from it all is Sliding Rock.

A Man With a Cause

Coach Waters is the epitamy of dedication—dedication not only to Western Carolina but to life. The football program at WCU would never have been as successful as it has been these past two decades without Bob Waters. Waters played football for the San Francisco 49ers after being drafted in the seventh round in 1960. In 1961, Waters made his mark in football as he became the first shotgun quarterback. After five years in football, he decided that his body had had enough and became an assistant coach at Presbyterian in Clinton, SC for two years and at Stanford for one. He first came to Western in 1966 after only three years of assistant coaching.

Waters current record stands for itself—110-79-6. However, this would have been much better if he had not scheduled one or two Division I-A teams every season since 1980. Even many of these games were not total losses as Western often led during the game and often only lost in the closing minutes of a game. Coach Waters runs his program on the lowest budget in the Southern Conference with only $6,500 each year for scholarships. This only adds to his credit since he has one of the best football programs to be found anywhere.

The dedication that Coach Waters displays to WCU and to life is the reason why the 1987 staff choose to dedicate this yearbook to him. He is a man who has been dedicated to WCU for almost two decades—and if Western has any luck he will grace us with at least two more.

MOUNTAIN HERITAGE DAY

The 12th annual Mountain Heritage Day Celebration was Saturday, September 27, 1986. The day started off by being a bit chilly and cloudy. Crowds flooded the campus of Western Carolina University eager to experience the proud mountain heritage of the area.

For music lovers, there were fiddlers, bands, cloggers, and singers. Among the groups who participated were: The Suzuki Fiddlers; Cullowhee Cloggers; Stoney Creek String Band; Macon County Old Time String Band; Guitar and Harmonica music by Guilford Williams; Fiddle playing by Mike Rogers; The Wauka Mountain Boys String Band; Ballads and banjo playing by Doug and Jack Wallin; The Foxfire Boys Bluegrass Band; Ballads, banjo, and string band composed by Mary Jane Queen and Family; Cherokee dance by the Snowbird Dancers; Fiddle playing by Ben Entrekin and Sam White; Sacred songs and ballads in English and Cherokee by Kate Rogers and Martha Wachacha; Buck Dancing by Alan Belt; and Fiddle playing by Harry Cagle.

Mountain crafters displayed their works. Products ranging from leather, lamps, clocks, dolls, aprons, blankets and quilts, wood furniture, glassware, to jewelry were sold at the celebration.

Food was not scarce during the day long celebration. Honey, candy apples, hot dogs, cakes and full course meals proved irresistable to all who were there. Many of these food stuffs were provided by WCU clubs and organizations as one of their main fund raisers to support functions throughout the year.

Once again, Mountain Heritage Day was a success with the beautiful weather adding the crowning touch to the annual celebration of a proud tradition at Western Carolina University.

Governor Martin made a special appearance during the day adding to the importance of the event for WCU.

A real still was on display to add to the authenticity of the day.

HOMECOMING '86

Homecoming 1986 was eagerly anticipated by many WCU students. Saturday, October 25, 1986 will not be forgotten for a long time. As girls put on their new dresses and guys straightened their ties, they quickly looked in the mirror. Another glance toward the window and a final glance at the mirror, then the beautiful clothes were traded for jeans, sweatshirts, raincoats, plastic bags, and ponchos which dominated the stands as the dedicated fans cheered the Cats to victory. The Catamounts raised their record to 4-3 after trampling the Keydets for the Homecoming victory.

In addition to the excitement of the game, the crowning to the 1986 Homecoming Queen took place at half-time. On the arms of their escorts and under umbrellas, the girls walked onto the field.

Members of the court were: Lisa Jo Thomas of Swannanoa, a senior Criminal Justice major, sponsored by the Criminal Justice club; Harriet Chambers of Waynesville, a junior majoring in Clothing, Textiles, and Merchandising, sponsored by Kappa Alpha; Orpah Bailey of Southern Pines, a senior majoring in Early Childhood Education, sponsored by Alpha Xi Delta; Selina Johnson of Valdese, a junior majoring in Nursing, sponsored by the Organization of Ebony Students; Caroline Dean of Monroe, a junior majoring in Health Education, sponsored by Lambda Chi Alpha; Jamie Callahan of Fort Lauderdale, a sophomore majoring in Nutrition and Dietetics, sponsored by WCU Cheerleaders; Angie Burns of Cleveland, a junior majoring in Accounting, sponsored by BACCHUS and SADD; and Wanda Foster of Salisbury, a junior majoring in Clothing, Textiles and Merchandising, sponsored by Theta Xi.

The girls nervously waited for the announcement of the winner. As she hugged her escort, a smile spread across Selina Johnson's face as she walked up to accept the crown of Homecoming Queen. Selina was the first black women crowned Homecoming Queen since 1970 when Gail Cureton was crowned. The cold, rainy day drenched the field and soaked the spectators but nothing could dampen that "CAT Magic."

Chancellor Coulter watches as Selina is crowned.

Selina waits anxiously on the arm of her escort.

No amount of rain could drive away the die-hard Cat fans.

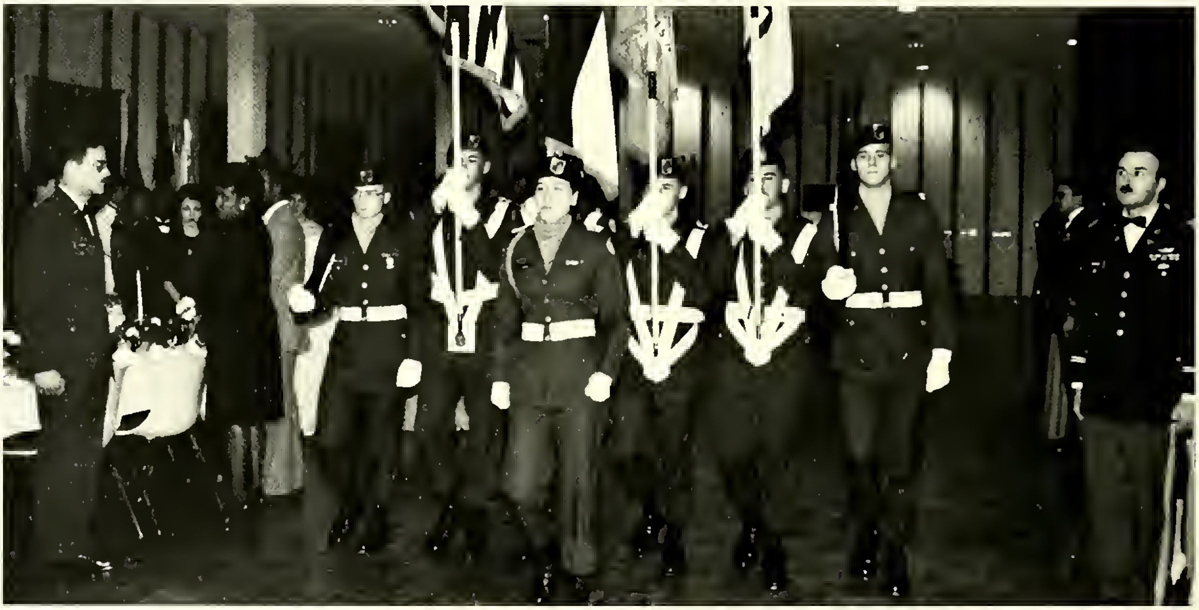
ROTC
MILITARY BALL

The grandeur and beauty of a long military tradition in the U.S. graced Western's campus with the ROTC Military Ball. This year the event was held in the University Center on February 7.

This event is a potpourri of military tradition. The ball begins with a receiving line where the highest ranking officers and others welcome civilians and military personnel. This is followed by the posting of the colors and the mixing of the punch. The mixing of the punch has special significance. Each ingredient that is mixed in is a separate symbol of such attributes as determination and education.

The WCU Jazz Band performed ending the evening with a dance.



Posting of colors with C/SGM Dunn, R. Carland, A. Fraser, E. Cook, M. Miller, J. Yanacsek, D. Long.

DRILLS AND WAR GAMES

Hundreds of high school students from North Carolina and South Carolina converged on Western's campus to participate in the annual ROTC Day. The event took place on April 25 from 10:00 am til 4:00 pm in the Regional Activities Center and Stadium.

The event is held each year for junior ROTC competition and to encourage participation in senior ROTC here at Western. The competition is comprised of drill competition which was won by Goose Creek High School, Goose Creek S.C.

The highlight of the day occurred when a jump team from Ft. Bragg performed a parachute demonstration landing on the football field.

CAT-A-THON 1987

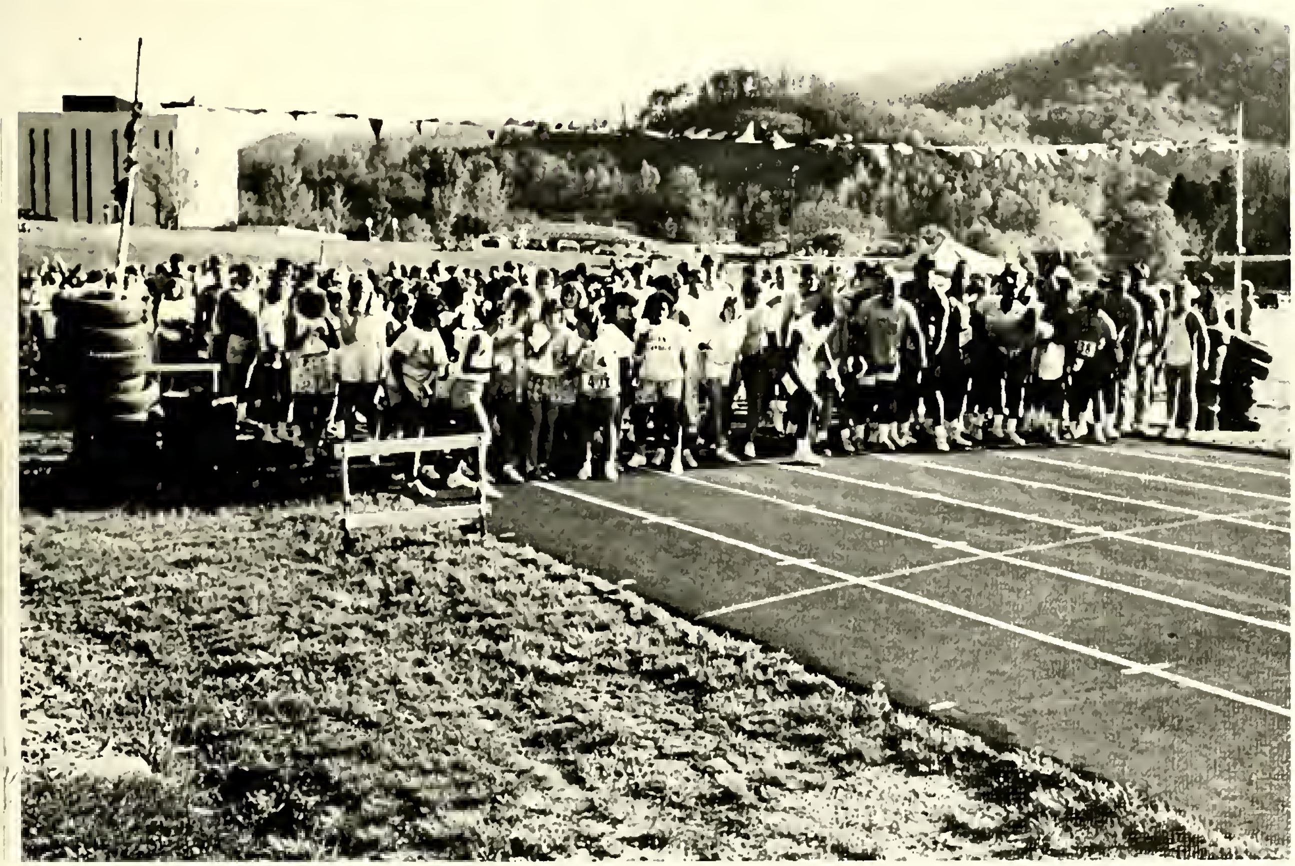
A Special Effort for a Special Cause

Various campus and off campus organizations gathered at the WCU track on Wednesday, April 29 for the annual Cat-a-thon. This year the Cat-a-thon was special since a $5,000 check to ALS Research was presented to Coach Bob Waters.

Each year the Cat-a-thon is held as a fund raising event for athletics and organizations and is sponsored by the Big Cat Club. This year after the $5,000 was donated to ALS the remaining funds raised by each organization was split 50-50 between WCU athletics and participating organizations.

Fifty organizations participated with over 500 joggers taking part in the biggest Cat-a-thon ever. To date, $17,500 has been collected and monies are still being received. The WCU football team raised the most money collecting $4,743. Delta Zeta Sorority was second with $1,561.50. ALS/For Bob was third with $1,035.

The Big Cat Club wishes to thank each and everyone for participating in this years "special" Cat-a-thon honoring Bob Waters.



THE CAMPUS

Western Carolina began in 1889 with one frame building located on what is now known as the Hill Area. As the school began to prosper, many buildings were added including dormatories. The campus first developed on the Hill with buildings such as Joyner (1913), which has since burned and is commemorated in a plaza, Moore (1924), Robertson (1931) and Madison (1939). As land on the Hill began to be scarce, the McKee Building was completed in 1939 with the aid of the Civilian Conservation Corps under FDR's New Deal. McKee was originally used as a public grades and high school as well as a college laboratory school. Stillwell, Breese and Hoey were also built in 1939 as the school expanded to accomodate a growth in student population.

During the 1950's, both Hunter Library and Buchanan Hall were completed. Buchanan was originally a boys dorm but now houses girls. Hunter has now been expanded and is almost four times it's original size.

A large number of buildings have been built in the past twenty years as Western has continued to grow. The most notable are the three high rise dorm, Walker, Scott and Harrell, which were completed during the 1970's. Whitmire Stadium was also built moving the football stadium across campus and leaving land for the library to expand and the Natural Science Building to be built.

Several years ago the H.E. Robinson Administration Building was completed. The building is in honor of ex-Chancellor Robinson who made many of the additions to the campus possible and helped the campus grow into the institution that it is today.

The most recent addition to Western's campus is the Ramsey Regional Activity Center. This building was built to serve not only as a basketball arena for the school but also as a entertainment center for the entire area surrounding WCU.

WHAT IS A PARTY ANIMAL?

A party animal is a unique individual that occurs most frequently on Western's campus. They are those people who never seem to tire of partying constantly. Sunday—Tuesday—Thursday—Saturday—no matter what time of the day or night if they have the chance to party, they take it. Somehow studying rarely crosses their minds. They never miss a frat or dorm party and if they can't find a party, give 'em five minutes and they'll make one. If you want to have a good time, just look for someone with a glazed expression and a cup in his/her hand and hold on for the ride.

BEACH BOD CONTEST

The tanned bodies gliding down the runway—muscles flexed and heads held high—screaming fans cheering for their favorite competitor—and lots of smiles and laughter added up to make the 2nd annual Budweiser Beach Bod contest a success.

This year the contest was held at the Lambda Chi Alpha house on River Road. Several hundred students attended making it an even more successful event than last year.

The girls showed their tans off in their best bikinis while the guys used showmanship to get their points across—flexing muscles and stripping down to very little. With the enthusiasm that it received, the Budweiser Beach Bod Contest has definitely become part of the Cullowhee spring celebration tradition.

How The Other Half Loves

"How the Other Half Loves," Alan Ayckbourn's domestic comedy, was staged January 30-February 7 by the University Players of WCU. Curtain time was 7:30 p.m. in WCU's Niggli Theatre.

The comedy involves three couples, and all the husbands work for the same company. Bob Phillips (played by Britt Corry of Greensboro) is having an affair with Fiona Foster (played by Betsy Bisson of Cullowhee). When Bob and Fiona return home suspiciously late one night—or early one morning—they invent a story for wife Teresa (Connie Silver of Asheville) and husband Frank (Derek Lawson of Rural Hall) about having to spend some time smoothing domestic matters in the home of William (Tim Bolick of Hickory) and Mary Detweiler (Jo Haney of Atlanta).

GRADUATION

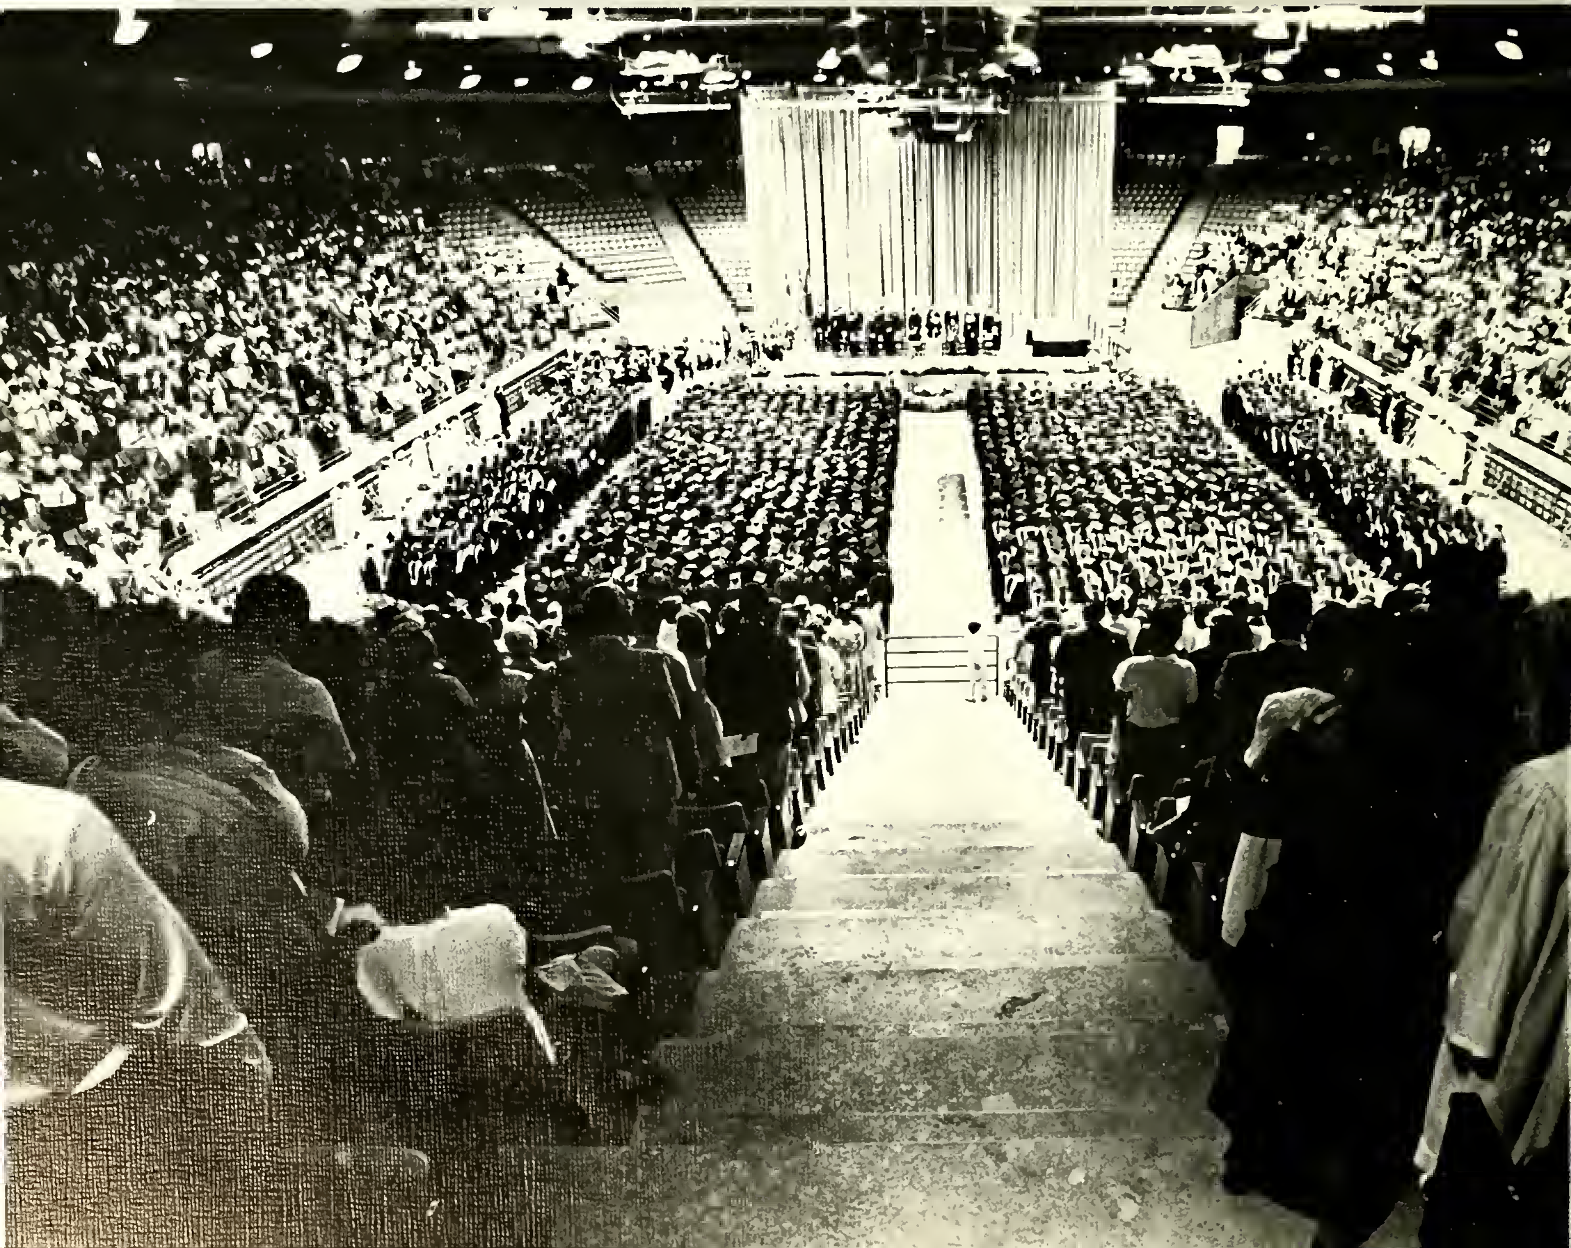
A TIME FOR REFLECTION AND CELEBRATION

May 9th dawned bright as over one thousand soon-to-be graduates awoke and hurried to practice in the Regional Activity Center. After practice, the students scattered in many directions—to families, to the the honors banquet, to last minute packing. Each went with mixed emotions of both joy—of finally finishing—and sorrow—of having to leave WCU.

The procession into the Activity Center started promptly at 2:00 p.m. The long line of black cap and gowns started to their seats as the entire center resounded with the applause and support of each students family and friends. The ceremony began with the National Anthem and as the flag fell full length from the ceiling hardly a dry eye could be found.

The ceremony went like most—long. As each name was called, you began to wonder if the list would ever end—until suddenly it dawned that these names would most likely not be heard again and then you didn't want the list to end.

After the ceremony, there came many tears of joy and hugs of parting as the students left their friends to go with their families. A normal college graduation to most—except for those who had graduated.



Farewell my friend
I will remember you always never forgetting the Friday nights out and the Saturday

and the blinding sun
and all the homework
we meant to do and the tests
we meant to study for but I can't stop the pain of realizing how very much

I'll miss you.

CATAMOUNT FOOTBALL

The Catamounts ended the season with the winning record of 6-5-0. Western faced its toughest season ever and held its own. The season started slow with losses to arch-rival Appy State and the South Carolina Gamecocks. Although both were tough games, the Cats learned that they could move the football through the air against anyone. The home season opener brought the win over Newberry—an old foe of the Catamounts and a fairly easy win as WCU rolled up 267 of its 339 total yards in the first two quarters. The Cats then faced Auburn—a much stronger opponent than the Newberry Indians. Auburn proved their high national rank as they held the Cats to six points and won 55-6.

The next game of the season was an important conference game with ETSU. Every phase of the game came under WCU domination giving the Cats their second win of the season. The Cats then proceeded to win the next four conference games with decisive victories. WCU gave her fans plenty of excitement in Paladin Stadium as the Catamounts came back to preserve the victory and hand Furman a 19-13 loss. Next the Cats blanked VMI in a rainy Homecoming game. WCU ran up 485 yards on 87 plays as Willie Perkins threw for 319 yards, 146 combined rushing-receiving yards from Mayfield and solid support from the entire unit. The Cats then beat the Citadel in a slippery game especially since the Bulldogs used vaseline on their jerseys in an attempt to slip past Western.

The Cats were upset by UT-C as the Mocs jumped to an early lead. Western then beat Marshall at home preserving the 5-0 record on Bob Waters field and finishing second in the conference. Western's last game of the year against NCSU proved to be too much for the Cats. Although they battled in an attempt to upset State and land a I-AA playoff bid and led during the second quarter, the Cats could not hold on and State won 31-18.

INTRAMURALS

Creative Leisure

The tension is high. The fans talk among themselves until a hush falls upon the gym. The ten players take the floor, shaking hands before the center tip.

Intercollegiate basketball game between the Cats and App? No—it's an intramural game in an upstairs court of Reid Gym between the Ridge Runners and the Yea, He Dids!

The intramural department here at Western provides a number of sports for athletically minded students in which to participate. Group sports such as football (mens), floopball (womens), basketball, volleyball, softball, and badmitten are sponsored. There are also a number of single sports like tennis, racquetball, bowling, billiards, wrestling, trap shooting, and even horseshoes and fishing are available.

The teams which participate in these activities are divided into three leagues: Men's All-Campus, Men's Small Campus, and Women's All-Campus. Each of these are broken down into a number of different leagues. In the playoffs, the winners of each of these leagues play each other to determine the All-Campus champions. These All-Campus Champions are awarded t-shirts. At the end of the school year, the team with the most sportmanship points receives a trophy.

The intramural department, headed by Mike Creason, schedules sports from the first week of classes until the week before exams in May.

The following pictures are those students who have excelled in particular intramural athletic events.

"What a party!"
"Who are those guys?"

J. Womack accepting the Pyramid of Excellence Award.

The Delta Omicron Chapter of Delta Sigma Phi Fraternity had another outstanding year. The chapter won the Pyramid of Excellence Award in 1986 for being one of the top ten chapters in the nation. In addition, fund raisers raised over 1,000 dollars for various chart table organizations we supported, especially the March of Dimes.

Brotherhood was at its strongest with our chapter. The brothers strived to meet the high standards a Delta Sig must live up to. This was demonstrated by our 1986 highest QPR on campus as a fraternity. Also, the positions of leadership on campus and off are proof to Delta Sig's committment to better its environment and government.

On a social note, Thanks to all the brothers who made our chapter so special and gave true meaning to the term brotherhood. Y.I.T.B.O.S.

Sigma Phi Epsilon

Sigma Phi Epsilon is the largest national fraternity with over two hundred and fifty chapters. Last year there were more Sig Eps in leadership positions on campus' with Sigma Phi Epsilon chapters than any other national fraternity.

Sigma Phi Epsilon—North Carolina Pi Chapter at Western Carolina University was founded on November 5, 1983. At that time, this chapter had chartered faster than any other Sig Ep chapter in the nation. Since then we have initiated more than one hundred and fifty quality brothers. We are proud to be students here at WCU and proud to be brothers of Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Now in its second year on campus, the Kappa Phi Chapter of Sigma Nu has already had a great impact on life at Western. At Mountain Heritage Day in September and working in conjunction with WWCU in February, the Sigma Nu's raised over $2000 for the Leukemia Society of America. Individual brothers of the chapter contributed their talents to the community in various ways, ranging from Russell Nail's lead role in Look Homeward Angel, a production of Sylva's' "Kudza Players" to Billy Graham's position as sports editor for the "Western Carolinian" to Danny Batten's term as Interfraternity Council Prisident during the fall of the year to Rob Reinhard's opening of "Simply T's", WCU's only store catering exclusively to Greeks on campus by providing clothing with Greek letters.

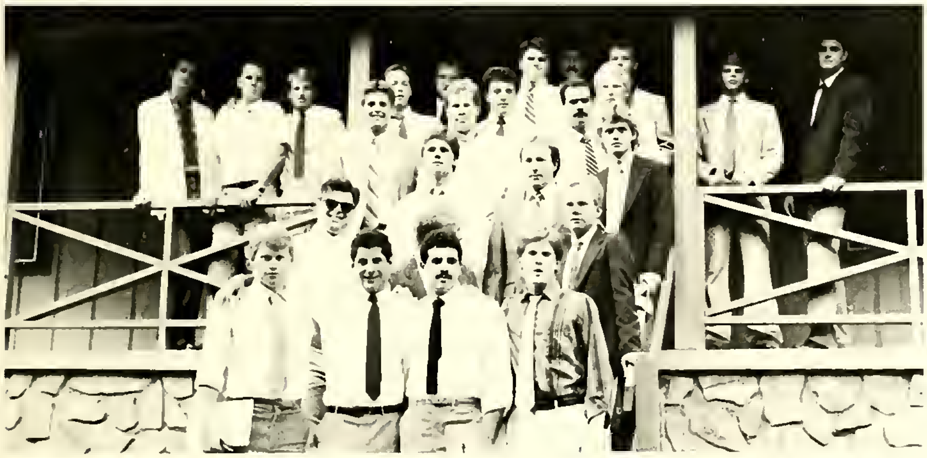
Theta Xi Fraternity



The purpose of Theta Xi was to provide a college home environment for it's active members in which fellowship and alumni guidance lead to wholesome mental, moral, physical and spiritual growth. To that end Theta Xi actively supported and augmented college and community efforts to make members more mature and chapter groups more useful units of society.

Kappa Phi of Theta Xi Fraternity was founded on the campus of WCU on April 12, 1958. In the fall of 1979 the active brothers moved into the current house located on River Road. Through alumni guidance Theta Xi grew to be a very successful fraternity on this campus.

What a happy family.

The Kappa Alpha Brotherhood was one marked by strong friendship with an established history. Kappa Alphas was chartered in 1965 at Western Carolina University. The fraternity supported Multiple Scerlosis with many fundraisers during the course of the year. These included a 48 hour softball marathon which raised $700 this year and the annual KA Classic Softball Tournament. Each spring semester the KA's look forward to their annual Old South weekend and Singing Waters, an alumni weekend. Strong leadership was exhibited by the Kappa Alphas on Western's campus through involvement in Student Government and the Inter-Fraternity Council.

The type of man found in Lambda Chi Alpha is the type of man who is forever striving for excellence in academics, leadership, and personal goals. Scholarship was highly stressed in Lambda Chi Alpha, as is shown in our success at winning the Fraternity Scholarship Award eleven times in the past seventeen years of our existence on the Western Carolina University campus. Our role in campus leadership was evident in such organizations as Student Government Association, Residence Hall Council, Traffic Court Justices, and Varsity Athletics. Lambda Chi Alpha was also a leader in the Fraternity Education Program which is used to implement a total fraternity experience for all members; we do not isolate uninitiated members in a pledge education program as do many other fraternities.

Pi Kappa Alpha

"We love our new house!!"

Two Pikes are better than one.

Pi Kappa Alpha is an international fraternity with over 170 chapters located in 43 states. Pi Kappa Alpha was founded March 1, 1868 at the University of Virginia and is one of the leading national fraternities in size and overall quality. Zeta Xi Chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha was founded at WCU on February 12, 1967. Zeta Xi has carried on the outstanding Pi Kappa Alpha tradition very well. Pikes at WCU included eight varsity baseball players, six varsity football players, two varsity cheerleaders, two track lettermen and one varsity tennis player. Coach Bob Waters is also a brother of Pi Kappa Alpha. Zeta Xi Chapter had numerous other campus leaders including SGA president elect and seven SGA student senators and one member of the executive board of the Inter-fraternity council.

NOSTROS AMEMUS

The Omega Zeta chapter of Pi Lambda Phi fraternity at Western Carolina University has been established since 1978, the ideals and beliefs of our non-sectarian fraternity was developed by our founding fathers at Yale in 1895, and are still in the hearts of each Pi Lamb brother. We are very proud to be the first non-sectarian fraternity in the country as well as on campus and our brothers believe that an individual should be based upon his personal quality, strength, and ideals, not race or creed.

The brothers at Pi Lambda Phi had fundraisers for the Arthritis Foundation, sold coupon books with discounts from the surrounding restaurants, had road-blocks and sponsored a campus wide assasination game going toward this very much needed fundraiser. We as a unified brotherhood put forth great effort to satisfy the needy as well as the misfortunate people of our society today.

Our fraternity had 49 active brothers, eight of which we would like to congratulate on becoming a brother of the Omega Zeta chapter. The new brothers were: Devon Broone, Kevin Byrd, Aaron Hooper, Derrick Hooper, Chris Hunter, Sean Oliver, Marcus Rhodes, and Terry Wilson.

Tau Kappa Epsilon

"P-A-R-T-Y"
"Gotcha!"

Zeta Omicron chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon was chartered on April 4, 1959 making TKE the largest international social fraternity. This year was an exciting and productive one for the brothers at TKE. At Mountain Heritage Day the brothers sold barbeque to make money to help pay for over $2,000 worth of improvements to the house.

The chapter sent representatives to its national leadership conference as well as the SEIFC conference in Atlanta. The chapter started what they hope will be an annual road race named "Run for the Children." This fundraiser will provide over $500 a year to St. Judes Childrens Hospital.

Socially, the TKE's held their annual Homecoming, Fun-n-games, and St. Patricks day party as well as their Sweetheart weekend held in the spring to rekindle brotherhood between actives and alumni.

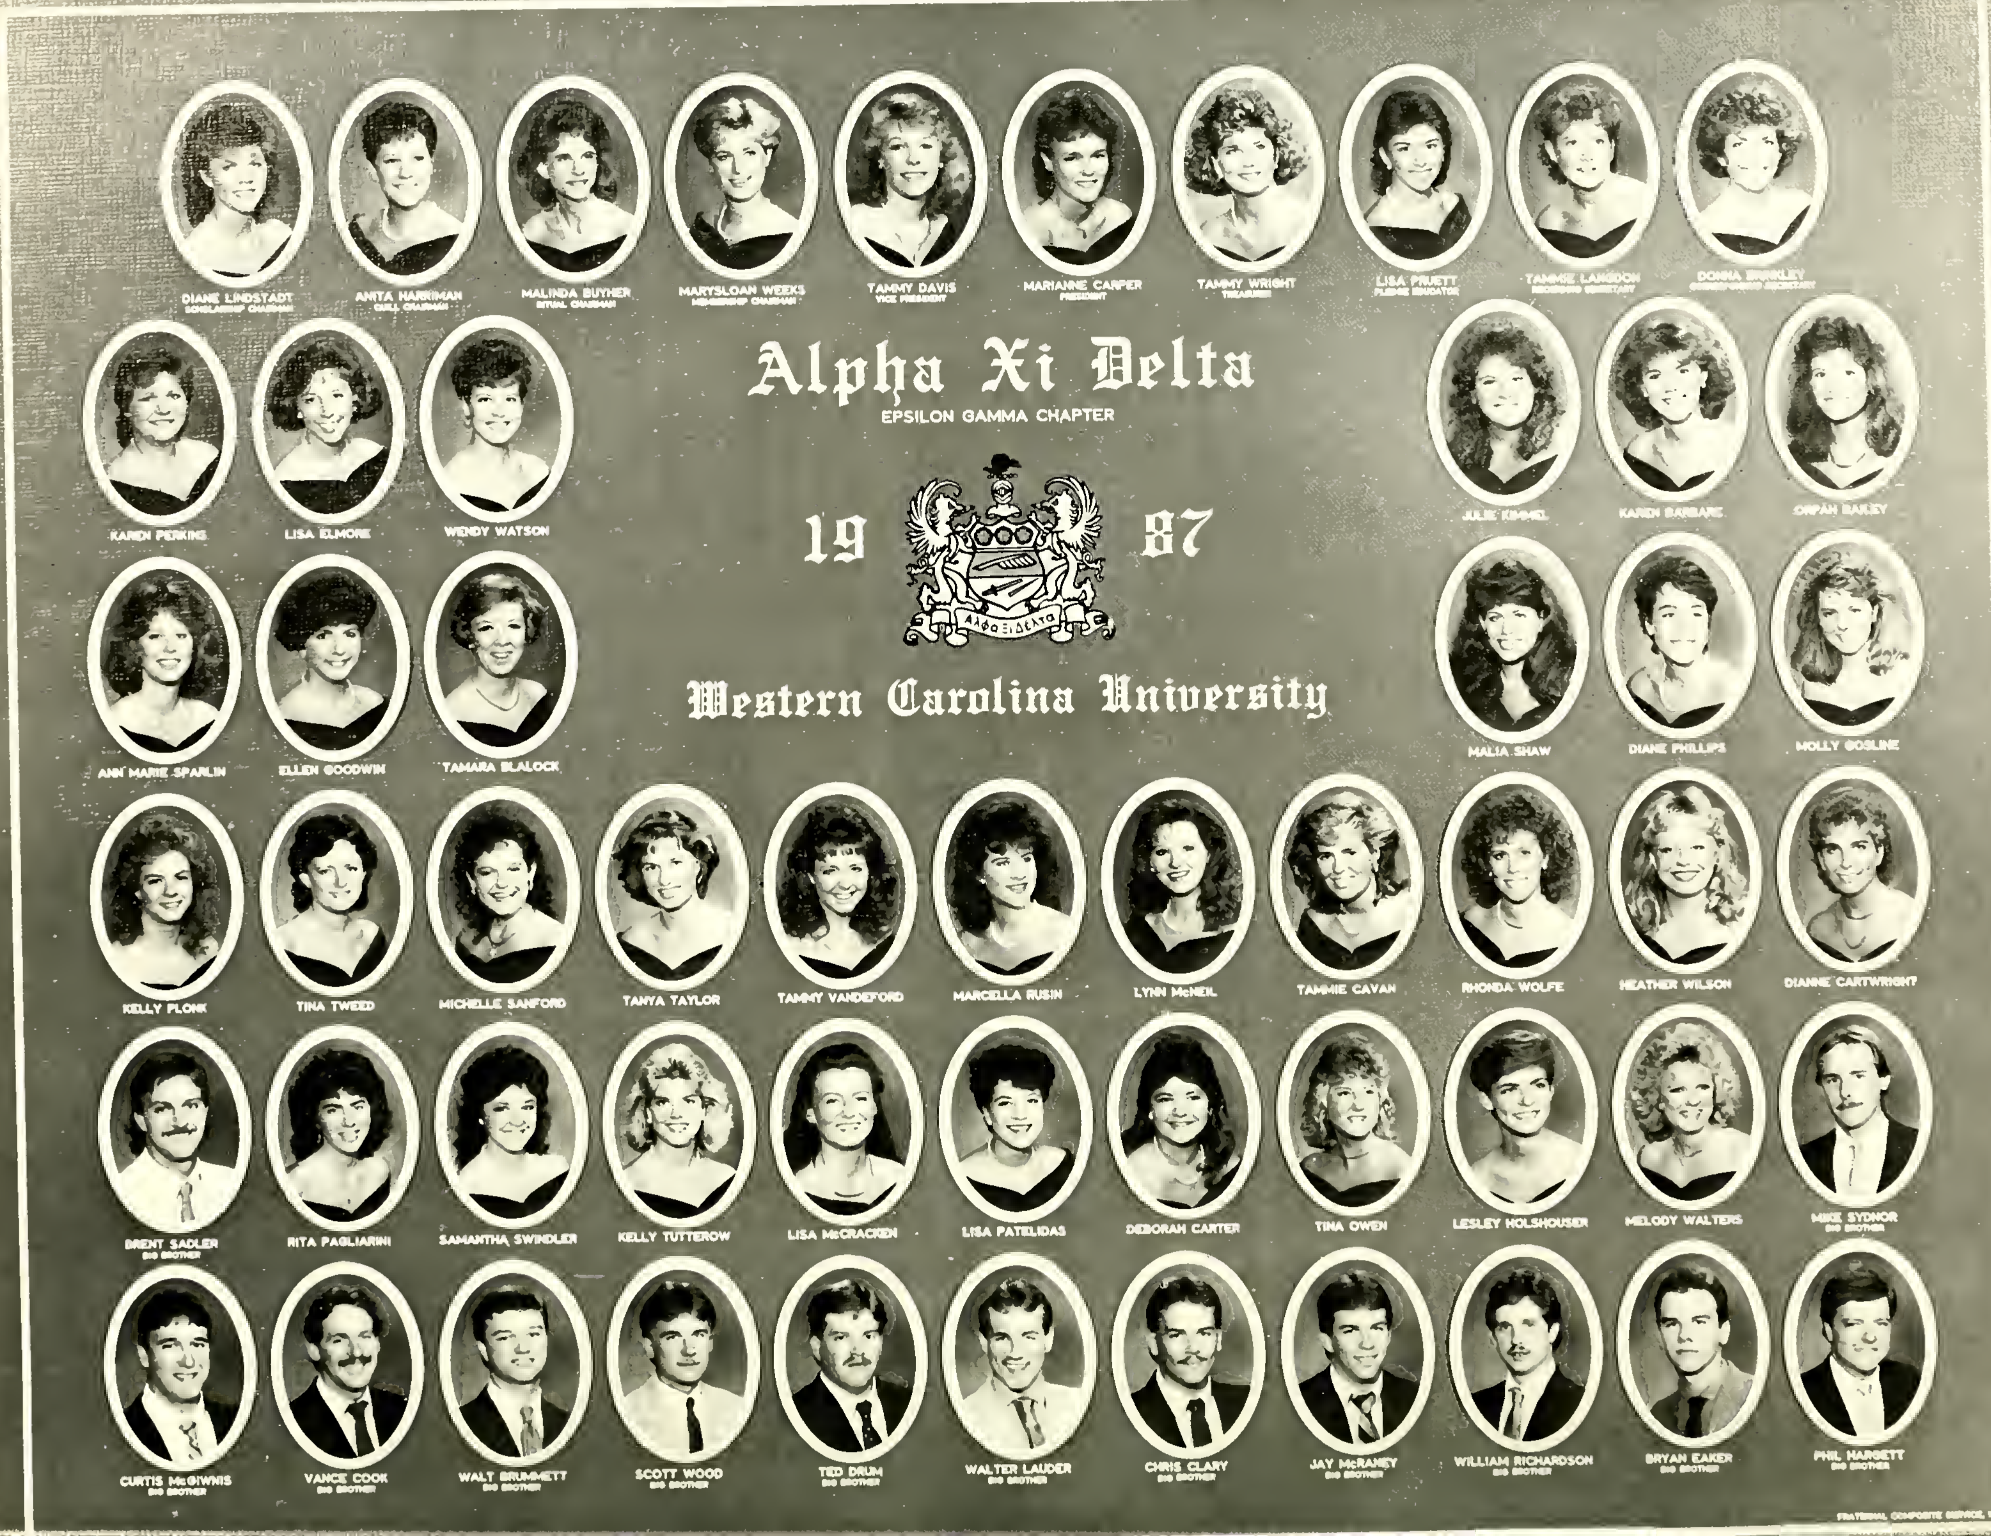
Alpha Chi Omega is a national collegiate sorority offering lifetime membership, experience in self government, encouragement to develop as an educated woman, philanthropic service to others, and high standards. Founded in 1885 at DePaul University in Greencastle, Indiana, Alpha Chi Omega now has over 130 chapters all over the U.S.

The Alpha Chi's were active members in the Greek system at WCU. Our local philanthropy was Special Olympics, and our national ones included the Alpha Chi Omega Foundation, Easter Seals, Cystic Fibrosis, and the MacDowell Colony. We were involved in the Cat-a-thon, intramurals, assassin with ZTA, Lambda Chi Alpha kidnap, and Pike's Peak.



Alpha Xi Delta

Becoming a member of Alpha Xi Delta was just the beginning of a new and exciting life. The life of an Alpha Xi was filled with friendship, love, courage and devotion. In the fall, you saw her in the marching band, petitioning for the Jackson County Humane Society and participating in Greek Week. Then in the winter you saw her babysitting for the Newcomer Club, going to Golden Weekend, and participating in the swim meet. Of course, spring was just as lively with participation in Spring Fling and Special Olympics.

Alpha Xi's were seen in various honor societies, litter sister organizations, as well as the Women's Recreational Association and being named the outstanding sorority for 1982-1983.

Most importantly, Alpha Xi Delta was the meaning of the golden quill and the sisterhood that will remain with her forever.

Delta Zeta Sorority

"We are having so much fun!"

The DZ Shuffle.
DZ fingerprints the children.

Delta Zeta was voted most outstanding sorority at WCU in 1986. DZs were founded in 1902, the first national sorority at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio. Delta Zeta's sister pin is recognized as the most beautiful sorority pin, and thus is the only one displayed in the Library of Congress. Delta Zeta's colors are Rose and Green. Our symbol is the Lamp of Gold. Our sorority flower is the pink Killarney Rose (the only rose which has no thorns.) Our national philanthropy is Speech & Hearing, and our mascot is the turtle—which cannot speak or hear.

Delta Zeta's purpose was friendship. A friendship which was sincere in its interest in her members and the things that are important to us. It makes possible the joy of doing and sharing together experiences that forever enrich college days and those that follow.

"The light of the flame has guided us throughout our past into the present and stands as the symbol of our faith and hope in the future. Tomorrow will soon enough become today; our task is not to wait for tomorrow, but to make tomorrow better because of what we do today . . ."

"We go all out for Halloween!"

Zeta Tau Alpha was founded by nine young women in 1898 and has since grown to a national fraternity with 190 chapters and third national ranking. The Zetas at Western are active in nearly all phases of campus life. You found us in the band, Student Government Association, intramurals, women's sports, Greek Week, Lambda Chi Alpha kidnap, ROTC Program, chorus residence hall activities, VOICE as well as the many clubs and organizations on campus. We participated in several money making projects for our national philanthropy, the Association for Retarded Citizens. Our most popular fund raiser was the annual Valentine Carnation sale. We also worked with the Special Olympics and the kids at the Mental Health Clinic on campus. Zeta stress scholarship and we were always willing to help each other by having Study-Buddies, programs on study skills, and study-quiet hours on the hall. Through the year we anticipated such functions as a Christmas Dance, Parent's Weekend, our spring awards picnic, alumnae get-togethers, Zeta Day, hall parties, and our favorite—Crown Ball Weekend.

Sigma Kappa Sorority

Sigma Kappa Fall Rush 1986.

If it was really anything at all, Sigma Kappa was not entirely a flower, monogrammed rings, songs, bylaws, standards or a golden pin, It was not entirely an institution, a creed, a legacy, or a way of life. If you are going to insist that it is anything at all, Sigma Kappa was moving in for the first time and learning that all beautiful people have fat legs, wear last years coats, eat popcorn 24 hours a day and have problems getting dates.

It was coming home from a Wednesday night party and going out to raid fraternity houses. It was long late hours of black coffee, Hardees and other exam snacks. It was borrowing a skirt from Gina, a blouse from Mary, shoes from Jennifer, a belt from Erin, and wearing it to a date party and passing it all off as your own.

It was sitting in the lobby and listening with all your helpfulness to a sister because she is lost and lonely and it seems that the whole world just fell into little ugly pieces. It was telling someone whose seen you through the hardest years of college that you're happy now and you're getting married.

You learned to wait, because change is slow, and change isn't always right. You learned that there is still a lot to believe in, and a whole lot more to hope for.

Phi Mu Sorority

Phi Mu believe that the fraternity is a valuable extension of one's college life. Through Phi Mu's chapter development program, members have the opportunity to discover a variety of talents and interests from the time they accept membership until they gradaute.

As a provisional member, individuals have the opportunity to develop a real understanding of the meanings and traditions of Phi Mu. Phi Mu was the first Greek letter organization to refer to its newest members as provisional members, thus destroying any of the connotations usually associated with the term pledge. Provisional members participate in many associated of the chapter decisions and in all social and educational programs.

After initiation, Phi Mu's are encouraged to develop valuable leadership and management skills through active participation in various chapter and campus activities. Group involvement lets the individual gain a better understanding of one's self while sharing the rewards and challenges of college life with meaningful friends.

Phi Mu is one of the oldest and largest college organizations for women. With our impressive record of progress and innovation Phi Mu will continue to add new members who wish to add a new dimension to their college life.

It should also be mentioned that Phi Mu is located on the third floor of Walker Hall and everyone is invited to come and visit at any time.

"... so happy together ..."
Phi Mu Fall Rush 1986.

"He's so cute and furry."

MARKETING & MANAGEMENT CLUB

The Marketing and Management Club under the guide of Mr. Larry Zeigler—its faculty sponsor—has grown to be the largest student organization on Western's campus. The purpose of this club is to allow members to fully explore the fields of marketing and management. This is accomplished through the use of guest speakers, field trips, fund raiser, and contests. The group makes two weekend trips each year to such cities as New York and Atlanta to more closely explore the vocational possibilities in business. Membership is open to any interested student.

CANTERBURY ASSOCIATION

Many, when asked about St. David's Episcopal, would answer, "Oh, yea, that's the pretty, little, white church behind the stadium." This is true, however, St. David's is much more than a picturesque mountain temple. Those students who participate in St. David's Canterbury fellowship activities know it is a source of guidance to and understanding of life in a complex modern society.

St. David's Canterbury Association is composed of W.C.U. students and advised by the Rev. Sherry Mattson. Canterbury meets every Sunday evening at 6:00 p.m. for worship, dinner and a program of discussion. The programs and discussions are as varied as the interests of those participating. Some weeks the program is a movie, just for enjoyment. Other times it's a social exercise to help the students realize something about themselves and the people around them. Sunday afternoon in the fall and spring are often the perfect time for day-hikes and picnics. Canterbury often opts for this rather that the usual evening meal and activity.

The students at St. David's Episcopal are concerned with the world around them as well as their own group activities. Week-end trips to Atlanta have been made with the United Campus Ministries to work in shelters for the homeless. Canterbury has also participated in the U.C.M.'s efforts to provide personnel for a shelter in Asheville.

Retreats are a part of most church affiliated clubs, and the Canterbury association is no exception. This group actively participates in Episcopal gatherings nationwide.

St. David's offers guidance to understanding of a Christian life in today's complicated society. Services at St. David's begin at 10:30 am Sunday, and Eucharist is also held at 5:30 pm on Wednesdays. All are invited to worship at these times and the 6:00 pm Canterbury meeting on Sundays.

CATHOLIC CAMPUS MINISTRY

The community which gathered this year at the Catholic Student Center enjoyed a year of creative growth through relationships formed amidst a variety of activities. Some of this year's highlights included:

—the diocesan "Encounter-With-Christ" retreat at Blowing Rock

—The formation of the North Carolina Catholic Students Coalition at the "Connections" retreat at Maggie Valley

—The "Applachian Service Project", a home repair project over Christmas break in Lee County, VA

—a weekend in Atlanta working at shelters for the homeless and visiting the Martin Luther King, Jr. Center

—our weekly Sunday evening liturgies

—the "Brotherhood March" in Forsyth, County, GA.

WESLEY FOUNDATION

—friendship and fun within a Christian fellowship. The support and strength that everyone needs to live out their faith. This is what the Western Carolina University Wesley Foundation is all about. Affiliated with the United Methodist Church, we invite all students to join us in celebrating your faith.

BATGIRLS

The pitcher winds up—the ball flies toward home plate and suddenly the fans hear the sound of the crack of the bat and as the batter runs toward first base the ball falls on the other side of the fence. A HOME RUN!

During the next moments, the batter completes his jog around the bases as the team comes out to congratulate him and the fans cheer. One hardly notices a girl running the perimeter of the fence—often through mud—searching for the ball or another girl who dashes towards home plate to retrieve the bat before it gets trampled. The duties of "working" a game—chasing foul balls and retrieving bats—are only one of the many responsibilities of a batgirl.

The batgirls have had their most successful year this spring. With almost twenty girls on the squad, the girls supported the baseball team with much enthusiasm. As well as their work at the games, the batgirls performed many other duties. Fund raisers were especially important to supply money for the individual boosters that each player received during the season. The batgirls also held several socials with the baseball team and made banners for the dugout for games.

Being a batgirl takes a great deal of time and dedication. Time to make the many boosters throughout the season and Dedication to show up and work in the rain and cold or the heat. However, the appreciation shown by the team and coaching staff is certainly worth every effort.

GEO-CLUB

The Geo-Club is an organization open to all Earth Science students. Nearly all activities done by the club are based on higher learning, understanding, and appreciation of the Earth Sciences. Within the club are various students with a variety of background: Geography, Anthropology, Environmental Health, Geology, etc. These students enjoy the chance to participate in a number of field trips. (the Mineral Museum in Asheville, touring the Earth Science Department of other universities.) Discussions and seminars (The nuclear waste dump in Asheville) and occasional cook outs which all Earth Science students and faculty can attend.

In the future, the Geo-Club will begin to broaden its horizons by introducing new topics of study and more ideas for field trips such as camping, skiing, rafting, and tubing. A new topic of discussion the Geo-Club will work for is the global 2000 issue to be held in the Spring of 1988. New members and ideas are always welcome and encouraged in the Geo-Club.

The Catamount is the university yearbook which contains pictures and comments on all phases of campus life. Since the book was begun, both the editor and business manager have been chosen through student elections. The spring of 1986 was the last year this was done when Mary Whitfield and Candy Mayberry were voted in by the student body as editor-in-chief and business manager, respectively. All consecutive editors will be chosen by a publications board made up of seven of the university's faculty and students.

Each year the book has its trials and tribulations. This year was no different. The prior editor did not finish the 1986 book until late fall so delivery was not made until January. This left the staff empty handed half the year with no fund raising capabilities. However, the staff survived and struggled to produce the book you are currently holding. Long hours were spent in attempting to create a book that expressed Western Carolina University in 1986-87. The staff only hopes that this will be a building block on which future editors will build and improve the Catamount each year of its existence.

MARCHING BAND

The Western Carolina University Catamount Band was directed by Dr. John T. West, director of bands, and Mr. Michael Miles, assistant director. The band entertains fans at WCU football games both in Cullowhee and at sites throughout the Southeast. This past fall the band traveled to Chattanooga and performed at half-time during the WCU versus UTC football game. The band also performs at events such as Homecoming, Pep Rally and Parade, and other University functions. During half-time at the WCU versus the Citadel football game, the band along with 80 trumpet players from high schools across the Southeast gave a special performance to WCU football fans. The drum majors of the 1986 Catamount Band were Erich Haas, Head Drum Major, and Cheryl Contino, Assistant Drum Major.

UNIVERSITY PLAYERS

The WCU University Players are a unique group of students from many parts of the country. They work long hours to ensure that each production they are involved in is the best that it can be. Though their efforts WCU enjoys a number of plays each year. This year the players brought a variety of performances to campus including "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest," "How the Other Half Loves," and "Foreigner."

"How the Other Half Loves"—Jo Haney (Mary Detweiler), Betsy Bisson (Fiona Foster), Tim Bolick (William Detweiler).>

WWCU

Under the management of Stuart Condie and his staff, WWCU had a very successful year. The station provided the campus with a variety of music—from classical to country to hard rock to top 40. The station is a non-profit organization and sells no advertisement time. Rather a number of public service announcements and information about events and campus organizations are aired. The station helped support the many blood drives that the Red Cross conducted on WCU's campus. Also, the annual Leukemia Radiothon occurred this spring and was a success as usual. Through continuing efforts, WWCU not only served the WCU campus this year but also the surrounding area of Jackson County.

Everybody Out!

You're taking a nice long, hot shower when suddenly the warning buzz of the fire alarm goes off. You start to panic. You shut off the water and grab blindly for a towel. You hurriedly grab some clothes and try to put them on while they stick to your wet body and refuse to behave. Your flip flops squeak as you run down the hall to the fire exit while wondering if this is the real thing or just a drill. Just when you believe that the alarm is real, it goes off. There you are in the middle of the stairway looking your very best!

Academics

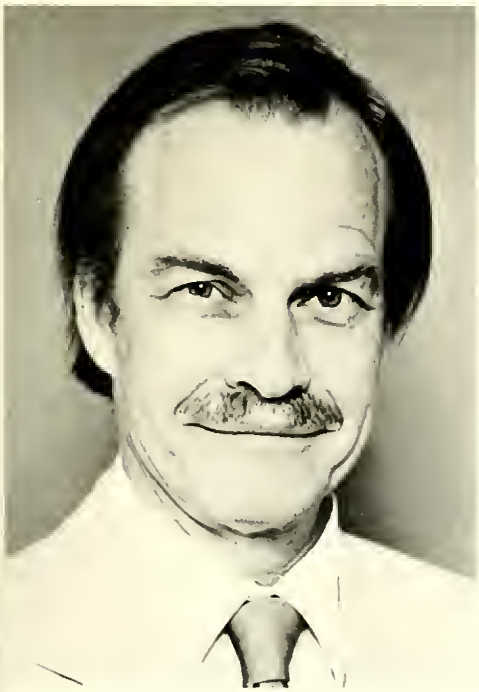
CHANCELLOR
MYRON COULTER

Chancellor Coulter came to Western two years ago after working with the College of Idaho. He received his Bachelor of Science from Indiana State Teachers College in 1951. Later, he received his Master of Science and Doctorate in Education from Indiana University in 1956 and 1959, respectively. As Chancellor, Dr. Couter's responsibilities are extremely varied. He is expected to do a great deal of traveling to promote the school. Since Chancellor Coulter has been in office, the Ramsey Regional Activity Center has been completed and new techniques have been instituted to attract new students to Western and insure the school's continued prosperity.

VICE CHANCELLOR BUSINESS AFFAIRS

DR. C.J. CARTER

Dr. Carter received his A.B. from Wofford College in 1960. He later received both his Master of Arts and Doctorate from Florida State University in 1967 and 1971 respectively. This year is his tenth anniversary with WCU. As Chancellor of Business Affairs, Dr. Carter is responsible for a variety of funding activity. The offices directly under his control are responsible for receiving and distributing funds to departments, organizations and individuals.



VICE CHANCELLOR ACADEMIC AFFAIRS

JOHN H. WAKELEY

Dr. Wakely received his A.B. in 1954 from the College of Wooster. In 1962, he received his Master of Science from North Carolina State University at Raleigh. Later, he received his Doctorate from Michigan State University in 1961. He was only recently appointed as Vice Chancellor at WCU.

VICE CHANCELLOR STUDENT DEVELOPMENT

DR. GLENN STILLION

Dr. Stillion received his Bachelor of Arts and Master of Arts degrees at the University of Mexico in 1960 and 1961 respectively. Later, he received his doctorate at Florida State University in 1968. He came to work at Western Carolina University in 1973. As Vice-Chancellor of Student Development Dr. Stillion is directly responsible for the Student Government, the Western Carolinian, the Catamount, and Last Minute Productions as well as many other student activities.

VICE CHANCELLOR DEVELOPMENT AND SPECIAL SERVICES

DR. JAMES DOOLEY

Dr. Dooley received his B.M. from the University of Chattanooga in 1952. In 1955 he received his M.M.E. from North Texas State University. Later, in 1963, he received his doctorate from Florida State University. He was with Western Carolina University since 1969.

DEAN SCHOOL OF BUSINESS

DR. JOHN F. McCREARY

The development, preservation, and dissemination of knowledge are the major activities of the School of Arts and Sciences. Special emphasis is placed upon effective teaching, learning, research, creativity, and service. A strong program in general education, required of all undergraduates, is directed at helping students acquire certain foundation skills and develop an understanding of certain perspectives on human beings, their societies and cultures, and environments.

ASSOCIATE DEAN SCHOOL OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

DR. JOHN BELL

The ultimate goal of the School of Business at Western Carolina University is the development of responsible people, and the primary objective is to provide a forum for examining the principles, needs, and issues which encompass the world of business. An array of programs is offered that is designed to develop prospective managers, specialists, service-industry professionals, and entrepreneurs.

Western Carolina University's School of Business is among only two hundred institutions in the United States whose excellence in graduate and undergraduate education is recognized through full accreditation by the American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business. Its quality educational programs are based on

1) recruiting motivated students;
2) providing a faculty dedicated to high standards in teaching, service, and research; and
3) maintaining a curriculum enriched by depth, breadth, and flexibility to meet the changing needs of business.

DEAN OF TECHNICAL AND APPLIED SCIENCE

DR. J. DALE POUNDS

The School of Technology and Applied Science has as its major thrust the recognition and dissemination of useful career-oriented knowledge in a variety of technical and professional fields. Its programs are designed to provide practical experiences and applications of principles in the career fields for which it is responsible. All undergraduate programs include a carefully integrated sequence of technical and applied science courses, courses in interpersonal relationships and mathematics appropriate to the discipline as well as the broadening general education requirements in English, literature, the humanities, social and natural sciences, and health and physical education.

DEAN OF NURSING AND HEALTH SCIENCE

DR. THOMAS F. CONNELLY, JR.

The School of Nursing and Health Sciences is specifically concerned with the preparation of entry level practitioners; with learning as a lifelong process; and with the concept of the health professional as a scientist and humanist.

Graduates of the school enter the work force as beginning professionals in the ever-changing and continually expanding field of health maintenance and the delivery of health care, and it is imperative that their learning and professional growth continue beyond baccalaureate education to keep pace with the increasingly complex modalities within the health systems. The faculty of the School of Nursing and Health Sciences is dedicated to this concept of lifelong learning.

DEAN OF EDUCATION AND PSYCHOLOGY

DR. GURNEY E. CHAMBERS

The School of Education and Psychology seeks to prepare professional personnel for the schools and colleges of the state and region and for other educational and service agencies. It coordinates all teacher education curricula at the university and provides services to individuals, schools, and regional educational and professional agencies. It undertakes continuous evaluation to assure curricula and professional services of high quality and coordinates the screening, selection, and counseling of students pursuing programs of study in the school.

Don't Walk Alone

This year as editor of the Catamount has been filled with many peaks and valleys. The beginning of the year was filled with promises of the perfect yearbook—slowly those dreams faded as the realization came that there were no perfect people so there could be no perfect yearbook.

My experience as editor-in-chief has been a learning one. I have learned how to work with a great many people—how to take responsibility for a major project—and how to juggle a hundred things at once. Now that the year has come to a close, I find myself with a long list of people that I must thank—Dr. Glenn Stillion and his secretary Bae Wade for their patience and help—Sandra Smith for not giving up on me—my staff, Candy, Tammy, Kelly and Jackie, who always stuck by me—my friends Denise Eeels, E.P. Ratledge, Regina McDaniels, and the ladies of 4th Scott who appeared with pictures and information when I needed it most—my special friend Jackie Schoder who I could always count on for support—John Ashcraft and Mark Haskett for their patience and contributions—Barbara Hoxit and David Frizzell for letting me off work to work on the yearbook—my parents for putting up with a messy house and a crazy daughter all summer—and my best friend, Steve Foster, who always listened to me, gave me a shoulder to cry on and kept me from losing my mind completely. If I have forgotten anyone, my apologies. I appreciate the help I received from everyone and I love you all.

My final message is not as deep as it could possibly be. All I ask is that for each student who looks through this book and begins to complain about its imperfections—do something about it. Get involved. That's what college is about. Help the yearbook be a better remembrance for everyone. Stop being a couch potatoe and start living life. If you don't do it now—you never will.

Mary E. Whitfield
